- Main helps heroine, who was asking douche about the drug he was around

- Maine stuffed in locker w/ rats, one badass but not a boss. It's on drugs.

- Janitor "saves" Main. but also gets him in trouble w/ the principle, who looks similar to his nephew, douche.

- parents beat on the son for doing drugs and getting a lot of money to be used as a bribe

- one thing that irks Main is the heroine tried to ask about the rat's symptoms, noting they were different from how the drug works. She was snooping around his locker.

- heroine's father vanished. He was a member of the FCC

- rumors spreading about Main & even his friends turned on him and sit away from him. It was like this invisible veil weighing down on him that he'd never noticed 64.

- Douche & his lackies start to bully Main. A piece of cake to them but harmful to maine.
  - heroine swoops in and fights w/ him. They go beat up the security guy and get the footage deleted
  - heroine blackmails Main into helping her. Main doesn't believe they can fight against company.

- take a boxing lesson but the coach kicks them out. Introduces a rage meter to fire back.
  - rage meter builds to a point a shot can be fired
    - > getting hit hurts meter
    - > firing resets the meter
  - they see Douche's car on the way out as Douche makes a delivery.
    - > hail a taxi and follow the guy.
    - > something tossed out of the car as it drives to another competetor boxing ring, where Douche makes another deal.
      - can't call the police cause it'll be stuffed under the rug

- heroine keeps taking pictures to build a case and they get approached by a security guard.
  - guard is high & noticed them
  - first boss fight ensues.
  - at the end, guy gets distracted as drug deal is made > Main takes drugs and beats guy up before passing out
- Main wakes up in the hospital w/ heroine reading a magazine
  - Main says he hates everything and tries to reject the story
  - Doctor comes in and asks why Main took the drugs then
  - herdin explains doctor is a friend. they're not alone.
  - Herdin leaves and Main asks Doctor about her identity.

Anime style flashback of her life

- Doctor says Main will absolutely not get off scott-free ↓ → asks if he can take time to think about it (also check-ups are req.)
- Main asking if he can switch schools
  - Mom & Dad reject him.
    > angry > guilty > pleased
- Next day at school heroine doesn't show up.
  - Douche doesn't show up either
  - people keeping distance from Main.
  - Pinciple tries to accuse Main of fighting

> Main blows him off.

- stares into empty locker as a piece of hair falls in front of him.
- slams locker shut. Too much force & hinge breaks, can't hear himself think.

- Goes to checkup and says he's angry. Gets measure but only slight aggression & muscle atrophy. Dehydration eat a lot
  - gets woozy
  - Doctor/blood boss fight to get to the narcan. Feels better. Much better.
  - Doctor reveals he turned for money. Doesn't want to die.
  - Not confined to school. Not something that main can run from. Time to go into the source.
- Cut to Douche getting the shit kicked out of him by body guard, who was blackmailed into helping, heroine-style
  - max rage meter
  - player essentially chooses the ending by killing or sparing Douche.

body guard gives good info.
- how to get around security cams
- how to get in un-noticed
- final fight w/ head boss.

Main uses drugs way too much and essentially condems himself to death.
- more fights
- higher difficulty.

company documents revealed.
- heroine got what she needed
- heroine reveals failed trials, getting boxers to testify since they can't fight anymore.

- bad ending
- heroine & main accused of terrorism and slaughter. Drug released, killing thousands.